Congressional Medal Ready for Joe Hill, Jr.

Governor James V. Allred Will Deliver the Medal In Dallas on January First

Joe Hill, Jr. will receive a Congressional Medal of Honor from the hands of Governor James V. Allred on the first of January at Dallas. The medal comes to young Hill as the youngest member of Admiral Byrd's expedition to Little America. Two other Texans, Dr. Gil Morgan and Pete Dumas, will be honored by the Governor at the same time.

Joe Hill is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill of Canyon. He became interested in the plans for the expedition when it was first given to the press and wrote directly to Admiral Byrd. So impressed was the Admiral with young Hill that the young man was slated for an interview. Finally he was called to Boston for a personal interview, and there was accepted as a member of the party.

Joe was a member of the tractor party which did the advance work on the ice. While at the South Pole he celebrated his 21st birthday.

Returning to America Joe Boy engaged in lecturing upon his experiences and was very successful throughout the Southwest. He spent last year with the Byrd exhibit at the Texas Centennial. He is now a student in the University of Texas studying aeronautical engineering. A few weeks ago he was invited to deliver his lecture to the engineering faculty of the University.

Accompanied by his wife, Joe arrived here from Austin last Thursday to spend the holidays with his parents and with Mrs. Hill's mother at Hereford.

Joe's dog, Neeka, has been in Canyon the past year at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hill. The dog was given Joe by Admiral Byrd upon the return of the expedition and accompanied him upon his lecture tour.

Henry C. Gamble Died Suddenly at Wheel of His Auto

Body Returned Here Sunday for Funeral Services Held Monday; Burial Tuesday

Henry C. Gamble, 46, died at the steering wheel of his car on the streets of San Antonio Friday evening at 7:00 o'clock. He had stopped for a light signal and passers-by saw him slump over the wheel. He was dead as a result of heart attack before an ambulance could reach the hospital.

The body arrived here Sunday and the funeral services were held Monday. Owing to the delayed arrival of a sister, the burial service was not held until Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

Rev. Sam A. Thomas, pastor of the Methodist Church, conducted the funeral services, assisted by Rev. Charles Wilson, pastor of the Christian Church. D. A. Shirley read the obituary.

Pallbearers were: Oscar Hunt, John Fry, Guy Harp, Wes Kleinschmidt, W. J. Wooten and Luther Fronabarger. Interment was in charge of the Griggs-Thompson Funeral Home.

World War Veteran

Henry Gamble was born in Tennessee Aug. 6, 1891. He came to Canyon in 1909 to be associated in business with his brothers, Oscar Gamble and the late J. D. Gamble.

When the world war started he volunteered in the first Officers Training Camp and served as an instructor and flyer throughout the war.

Following the close of the war he returned to Canyon and was active in the organization of the American Legion Post. This group built the first legion hall in the entire southwest.

In 1921 he organized Company F

Canyon Boy Coaches the State Champions

Longview won the high school state championship football game on Christmas Day by defeating Wichita Falls 19-12.

Longview is coached by Elmer Shotwell, formerly of Canyon and an ex-student of W. T. This makes the third time that Shotwell has won the state championship—first at Abilene, next at Breckenridge, and now at Longview where he has coached for the past three years.

Eagles Will Play Two With Dalhart

Double Headers Will Be Payed Here Friday and Saturday

The Canyon Eagles will play the Dalhart high school basketball teams at the local gymnasium Friday and Saturday nights.

Both the first and second teams of the boys from both schools will play games. The first game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Coach "Buff" Morris has his men hard at work this week getting ready for the invaders for the two nights. While the standing of the Eagles in the conference is not jeopardized by these games, Morris and his men wish to win all four games during the two evenings.

Coach Lawrence Brotherton, a former W. T. star, is bringing a strong team from Dalhart for the games. The Eagles nosed out the Wolves last year, and the North Plains lads are seeking sweet revenge for this drubbing.

Program Wednesday Will Feature Beautification of Canyon

In order to put over a beautification program in Canyon during 1938, the Chamber of Commerce will start a series of programs next Wednesday at which time this subject will be discussed.

The F. F. A. club of the high school under the direction of Milton Morris is sponsoring the first program to be held next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the high school.

Wm. Anderson and Jimmie Gaston of the highway department will speak at the program.

S. H. Condron, president of the Chamber of Commerce urges all citizens interested in beautification to attend this meeting.

Christmas Prizes For Decorations Are Not Awarded

Prize money for Christmas decorations went begging this year. The Chamber of Commerce offered prizes for both homes and business houses, but no one entered the contest, therefore no awards were made.

One of the stipulations was that entries should be made by Dec. 21st. The 21st came and went with no one entering the contest. Several citizens talked of entering, but their names were not entered with Levi Cole, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Maybe better luck will be had in the 1938 contest. At least the Chamber of Commerce proposes at this time to offer prizes on Christmas decorations for 1938, and hopes that the citizens will enter the contest.

Engineers Added To Force Building Buffalo Dam

No Admittance to Dam Site Without Pass Owing to Number Looking For Jobs

DIG TEST HOLES

Offices Are Established In Umbarger; Materials Bought

Several engineers have arrived this week to work on the details of Buffalo Dam south of Umbarger.

Several car loads of materials have also been received and more machinery and equipment will be received within a few days.

Test holes are being sunk the entire length of the dam across the valley of the Tierra Blanca in order that the type of soil may be determined on the site of the dam. These holes are in line with the dam construction and the work underway will be of great use to the engineers when the actual construction gets underway.

A guard has been placed at the gate leading to the dam site. This became necessary as men seeking work were hampering the workmen. Sightseers are not wanted at the job, and strict regulations will be enforced to keep the number of visitors at a minimum. Passes will be issued only to persons having business on the job.

Practically all of the labor being used on the job are from Randall county. Men who have registered for work will be called as they are needed.

An office for the engineers has been opened at the old hotel building in Umbarger. Another office will be at the dam site just as soon as it can be built.

Lumber contracts have been awarded, and an office and warehouse at the dam will be the first construction.

Young Haynes Will Run Father's Place

A. B. Haynes, Jr., of Houston, arrived Monday with his father, Rev. A. B. Haynes, and will take charge of the farm south of Canyon. Young Haynes likes farming and studied agriculture in Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Rev. Haynes bought the farm while he was pastor of the local Presbyterian Church and has returned every year from Houston to look after the place.

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Bishir and Peggy spent Christmas in Floydada with sisters of Mrs. Bishir.

Buffs Lost All But One Game

Take First Game Monday at Oklahoma City, Then Drop Three

After winning the first game in the Oklahoma City tournament, the Buffalo basketball team was defeated in the next three games.

The Buffs defeated Stephen F. Austin Monday afternoon by a score of 44 to 35. Shackelford was high point man with 14 points to his credit. Stephenson stood second with 12 points.

The Buffs were called upon to meet the fast Warrenburg Teachers Monday night and took the short end of the 50-26 score.

A close consolation game was won from the Buffs by the Northwestern Oklahoma Teachers 43-40.

A third game was lost by the Buffs yesterday when they were defeated by the Panhandle Aggies, 33-29.

The Buffs have witnessed the best teams of the Southwest in action this week and will return greatly benefitted by the trip.

THE CONSERVATION PROGRAM

When the water conservation program was started in Canyon one short year ago, it was not dreamed that it would be possible to set up the machinery and actually get one or more dams under construction within that length of time. Government work moves slowly and cautiously. But the powerful influence of Congressman Marvin Jones in Washington, and the unselfish and persistent services of Carl Hinton got the conservation program underway in a much shorter time than was anticipated. The program today is just starting. If it is carried out as anticipated and planned by Congressman Jones, backed by the long-sighted planning of President Roosevelt, water conservation will be the program for many, many years. It is planned that water in the area shall be held where it falls. That is the only means by which drouth and sandstorms may be definitely checked.

The meeting called in Canyon last Wednesday to celebrate the first year's accomplishment was a very harmonious one. When the meeting opened, there was much misgiving on the part of the officers, as word came to them of the dissatisfaction that prevailed in many counties. Some counties thought they were being gipped simply because work had not started first in their county.

When John McCarty and Carl Hinton finished their talks, and had laid all of the cards on the table as to what had taken place and what was in the process of making, every person present was highly enthusiastic at the unselfish action which the officers had taken, and a resolution was passed complimenting Congressman Jones, Carl Hinton and John McCarty for their highly efficient work.

The entire movement started in Canyon when forward looking citizens realized that something must be done to check the drouth or this country would become a desert. Holding the water in this area seemed to carry out the program of the government in urging all farmers to contour and use every means of conserving the moisture. Then why not dams to hold the surplus rainfall which could not be caught and held by contouring?

Local people viewed the natural site in the Tierra Blanca south of Umbarger. The government's chief dam builder from Washington viewed it and exclaimed that he had never seen nature provide a more logical place for a dam. His first opinion was that a dam 100 feet high should be built, but upon closer examination and investigation by the engineers of his department, it was recommended that the dam be only 37 feet high. The fact that this is the best location in the Panhandle for a dam was the only reason for starting on this project first. Every engineer employed who visited all sites in the Panhandle maintain that the location at Umbarger was the logical one for starting the conservation program.

Amarillo has been criticised by the Hereford Brand because this location was selected, and the dam has been dubbed the "Amarillo dam." As a matter of fact the entire conservation movement was started in Canyon long before Amarillo was consulted, and the people of Hereford were advised with by a Canyon delegation about the time that Amarillo was consulted in the matter.

The lake will not be an Amarillo enterprise by a long shot. If the dam is eventually raised to a maximum possibility of 110 feet, the water in the lake will be closer to Hereford than it will be to Canyon, and as much of the lake bed will be in Deaf Smith county as is in Randall county.

The fact remains, and should never be overlooked by any citizen of the Panhandle, that without the services of Amarillo in this matter, the entire program would probably have gone with the dust storms. Mr. Hinton was loaned to the enterprise with his salary paid by Amarillo. The officers of the Panhandle Water Authority have had a real struggle trying to raise enough money from the counties in the area to finance the necessary expenses of the movement. Had a salary been added, the entire project would have failed for lack of support from most of the counties.

It is in the plans that both Friona and Hereford secure dams on the Tierra Blanca above the Buffalo Dam which was started last week. The people of Canyon hope this will be the case, and believe that the engineers will make such a recommendation. It is not possible for either Friona or Hereford to secure such large dams, because there is no location available through the work of nature.

Work will start on a dam in Hemphill county within a few weeks. The dam will be a very small one as compared with the Buffalo Dam because nature has not provided such a favorable location. There will be at least nine major dams in the Panhandle started as soon as the engineers can work out the details, but this is a long and tedious process. After the major dams are constructed the smaller ones will come.

With all the Panhandle pulling together on the water conservation program, this country shall be redeemed from the ravages of dust storms and the drouth. If Panhandle people refuse to pull together at this critical time, we shall all pay the penalty of seeing this splendid country ruined by a continuation of drouth which has already done so much damage to the section.

SMEARING THE RECORD

FOR 1938

Tex De Weese in the Pampa Daily News prints the following letter from a contributor which should be carefully read by all citizens:

"Now comes another New Year and where are all those brave resolutions of times past? How many New Year's resolutions I conscientiously made and carelessly broke and abandoned! Without doubt I have much to answer for regarding them, and I just wanted to make a different approach to the matter this year. So I thought that a little honest, sincere, earnest and heartfelt prayer would be pretty much in order. Not being too experienced in prayer, here is what I thought out:

"Oh! Lord! Forgive me for breaking New Year's resolutions of yesteryear, and let me make this little prayer instead. Forgive me for being a fool, in that I have given Thee little or no thanks for my blessings of this year; in that I have accepted health and strength and life itself as if it were due me and belonged to me; in that while I have faithfully rendered unto Caesar the things which were Caesar's, I have rendered unto God exactly nothing. I am truly and sincerely ashamed.

"Forgive me for those multitudinous little matters, which I have completely forgotten, and which meant nothing at the time, but which my neighbors have remembered against me, and for which they are still holding me responsible. Let me help myself in this, that I cease giving offense to my friends and neighbors.

"Forgive me for being a poor sportsman and very little of a gentleman. I recall that I have howled at the referee when our side was penalized, and shouted with glee when the opponents were penalized. I knew full well at the time, and now remember, that therein lay no true sportsmanship, and that I showed to the public, by my behavior there, no quality of mind or heart that would tend in the least to prove me a gentleman.

"Forgive me for being a bad citizen in parking my car in the business district rather than a block or two outside it; for failing to grow some roses in my back yard for the beautification of my home and town; and for failing to cut the weeds behind my house.

"And lastly permit that with my whole mind and heart and soul that I get to doing something about these grievous shortcomings of mine."

People lose confidence in government when it fails to tote fair with the citizens. The law provides that all public buildings shall have fire escapes. Recently the state fire marshall attempted to force Harris county to install fire escapes on its court house. The state capitol has no such conveniences. Harris county refused to act until the state had corrected its own error. For many years each employer in the state had been required to carry Workmen's Compensation Insurance. The legislature refused for many years to allow any department of state to carry such insurance. A law finally goes into effect on the first of January providing for such insurance for the State Highway Department.

The apology of Japan has been accepted for sinking one of our ships. The Japs will pay the damages and promise to be more careful about shooting American citizens and gunning American ships. It may be somewhat of a bitter pill for Americans to swallow this apology, but it is certainly better than killing off thousands of young men of this nation and destroying millions of dollars worth of property in another war. Observers believe than sooner or later the whites must fight the yellows. But maybe common sense will show the world in time that war does not pay, and that this catastrophe will eventually be evaded.

A very high compliment was paid to the Canyon News last week by an advertiser who carries messages in practically every newspaper in the Panhandle. The News was chosen as one of the three best weeklies in the Panhandle. "There are several larger weeklies in the Panhandle but none which are more carefully edited, made up and printed than the Canyon News," was the highly appreciated esteem of this man who reads all of the weeklies.

So Jim and Ma are not going to run this year. But Jim is going to have some mighty good friends in the campaign, and he can do them a world of good through the Ferguson Forum. That is the reason why the Forum has been started again after a long vacation.

Work Starts on Buffalo Dam

Shown above are scenes at the first annual meeting of the Panhandle Water Conservation Association in Canyon last Wednesday when the organization met to celebrate the start of construction on the Buffalo Dam across the Tierra Blanca creek near Umbarger and in complete harmony to move forward on the water conservation.

The upper scene shows a part of the crowd at the damsite grouped about a giant steam shovel. This is considered a "natural" as a site.

Third row shows one group of directors of Panhandle Water Conservation association at site. Thirty-one counties had directors present, but the cameraman was not able to get a picture of the entire group at one time: Reading left to right: Thurman Havens, Claude; K. C. Lea, Clovis; Roy Smith, Tucumcari; Judge M. O. Goodpasture, Memphis; Judge Norman Coffee, Silverton; W. A. Warren, Canyon; R. L. Stringer, Dimmitt; H. V. Hennen, Hereford; C. H. Walker, Pampa, and Judge M. G. Miller, Muleshoe.

1937—another better year for dairying.

Income of the nation's dairy farmers for 1937 is estimated at $1,470,000,000. This is $53,000,000 more than last year, and $181,000,000 over 1935 — $337,000,000 better than 1934.

For everyone in the dairy industry—this year and every year—increased income very largely depends upon new and wider markets for milk and milk products.

The end of 1937 marks another milepost in Borden's unbroken record of 80 years of merchandising dairy products — research, advertising and selling all forms of milk.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS, JR.

Austin.—Few Texans who have not seen the project with their own eyes have any conception of the possible social and economic consequences of a great piece of public work that is nearing completion in the heart of the state.

Reference is made to the extensive system of flood control and hydro-electric generation that is being developed along the Colorado River, near Austin. As a guest of the directors of the Colorado River Authority—the State agency which is directing the work that was financed through co-operation of the Federal Government—this writer, together with half a hundred other Texas newsmen, was recently privileged to inspect the project.

Four Units Involved

For many years, the Colorado River, one of the most beautiful and attractive in Texas at low-water, and one of the wildest and most destructive during flood times, has taken annual toll of the farm lands and cities and towns lying in its basin. The average annual flood damage has been compiled at $4,000,000. To control this situation, the Colorado River Authority has planned a series of four dams—Buchanan, 45 miles above Austin, with a two-mile concrete dam, impounding a lake holding a million acre feet of water, and with a perimeter of 250 miles; Inks Dam, immediately below Buchanan dam, creating a lake about 20 miles around; Marshall Ford Dam, about 15 miles above Austin, impounding a lake 190 miles around; and Austin Dam, adjacent to the city, which was built many years ago, destroyed by flood ,and is now to be rebuilt and operated under lease to the CRA, impounding a lake 100 miles around. Hydro-electric equipment will generate power at each of the four dams, and the project is so financed that the directors believe power can be furnished Texas consumers at rates approximately equal to those established by the TVA, in Southern states.

Two Dams Completed

The first two dams mentioned above have already been completed, and machinery for generating electricity is now being installed. The others will follow immediately. In addition to ending forever the flood menace on the Colorado, the turgid stream, brought under control, will furnish water to irrigate about 50,000 acres of rice fields in Colorado, Wharton and Matagorda. Normal flow of the stream is to be maintained at all times, and additional water required to irrigate the rice crops will be sold by the CRA at a low rate.

Financing involved a total of $25,000,000, of which $10,500,000 is a loan secured by bonds of the CRA to be repaid over a 30-year period from earnings of the project. The remainder was a grant from emergency relief funds. The authority directors have used no State funds, neither asked nor received any tax remission, have no power to tax, and may not mortgage or sell its properties.

Recreational Use

More than 65,000 persons have visited the project during the year of construction, and, located centrally as it is, the series of lakes will provide one of the finest recreational areas in the nation, for hunting, fishing, boating, bathing, camping, and similar sports, on completion. Doubtless it will prove one of the finest and most popular recreational centers of the Southwest.

Power Sale

Plans for disposition of the power produced by the system are as yet incomplete, except for the fact that the City of Austin will take power for servicing the capitol city, now served by a municipally operated plant. Private power companies already have a rather extensive network of distribution lines accessible to the lake area, and they could easily be connected, if plans are perfected for selling the power at low rates in this manner. If a co-operative distribution plan with the private companies cannot be worked out, the Authority may establish its own distribution system to strategically located larger centers of population within economical distributing distance, which is said to be a circle with a diameter of 600 miles from the generating plants. The Authority has been hampered somewhat by litigation, still pending, instituted by a group of private power producing and distributing concerns. The time and extent of the power benefits to Texans may hinge on the outcome of this litigation, or a compromise settlement of the case.

CRA Makes No Profit

The CRA is a state-chartered non-profit organization, created by Act of the Texas Legislature. Chairman of its board is Roy Fry and directors are Fritz Englehard, vice chairman; A. J. Reinhard, C. R. Pennington, J. F. Hutchins, Carl White, T. H. Davis, W. B. Arnold and S. Raymond Brooks, secretary. Brooks is an Austin newspaper reporter, widely popular and recognized as an authority on the reporting of State capitol news throughout Texas. Officers of the authority are C. McDonough, general manager; A. J. Wirz, former State Senator, general counsel; L. C. Clark, treasurer; and C. B. Sheffield, auditor.

I want you all to spread your wings and fly away."

Each child, waving to the music she beat, skipped to the dressing room, with the exception of one little fellow, who remained in his seat. Turning to him she said: "Donald, why didn't you fly away with all the other little birds?"

"The Rest of the Record"

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

AUSTIN.—It should be good news to Tom, Dick, and Harry that unemployment insurance starts in Texas next Saturday, January 1st. It means to these workers that in the event they lose their jobs in 1938, they will have a windfall to help out until they can secure employment.

Who doesn't remember those depressing days of 1933 when men walked the streets searching for employment, knowing that their cash reserve, if any, was rapidly dwindling? These men had no hope of help then from the government, only a blind faith that somehow we would "muddle through." To prevent the recurrence of those cruel days, something has been done about it!

1938 marks a new era as the state and federal governments jointly enter upon the humanitarian program of the president by assisting out-of-work employees in finding new employment and in providing him with funds during unemployment. Already in the field are sixty employees of the Texas Unemployment Commission stationed at twelve district offices ready to serve the 12,600 employers and 875,000 employees who are enrolled under the Texas Unemployment Compensation act.

In almost every town in Texas, the Texas State Employment Service has an office where the unemployed may register for work. Every effort will be made by the service office to place the applicants. During the past few months scores of thousands have secured jobs in private employment arranged thru the Employment Service.

Under the Compansation Act, if Tom, Dick, and Harry lose their jobs, these men must go to the Employment service office in their town and register for work. During a two weeks period in which time the applicants must report once a week to the office, every effort will be made to find them jobs. If the search is fruitless, these men will be entitled to receive cash benefits payable weekly. The maximum payment is $15 per week, minimum $2, but they will be eligible for benefit payments not more than sixteen weeks in one year, provided that their earnings have been sufficient to allow it.

If the applicants are receiving Workmen's Compensation or Old Age Assistance, unless the assistance is a less amount than the individual would be entitled to under the law, they will not be eligible for benefits.

An employee to be eligible under the law must have been employed by an employer of 8 or more persons and his wages must have been reported to the Unemployment Compensation Commission by that employer under the employee's name and social security account number.

Every employer is being furnished with detailed instructions concerning the proper form of reports and the method for filing of claims for benefits. Employees should acquaint themselves with this information either through their employer or by writing directly to the Unemployment Compensation Commission at Austin.

Shortly after the enactment of the Federal Social Security Act, I commissioned two attorneys to study unemployment insurance systems in other states and countries in order to determine the system most suitable to Texas. Such a system has been worked out with proper regard for two important features: first, that the system would not cause a tendency to lower wages; secondly, that no great hardship would be created for business and industrial employers.

Already a reserve fund amounting to approximately eighteen million dollars has been built up resulting from taxes collected during 1937. Such taxes were levied by the Federal government and would have been collected whether the state joined in the program or not. In submitting the subject at the called session in September, 1936, where it was passed and signed by me, Texas was insured of participation in this humanitarian program.

Thus, Texas enters a new era where a helping hand is being extended by the state to the unemployed. The New Year should bring a feeling of security to Tom, Dick, and Harry!

NEW YEAR Greetings

Although the past year has not yielded an abundance of prosperity, it has taught us that there are values which contribute more, or at least as much, to our happiness and well-being as financial abundance. The experiences of this past year have made us more charitable toward our brothers; they have given us more appreciation of each other's efforts, and they have made us more co-operative with each other. Indeed some of us are learning that riches is not the greatest thing in the world.

With these lessons embedded in the souls of all of us we have the foundation for greater achievements as a people than ever before. May the lessons that you individually have learned, yield abundant returns in the way of harmonious, happy living during the year 1938.

Texas Has Full Calendar During Political 1938

Those Seeking Offices Have Full Schedule of Dates To Observe During the Year

The year 1938 is studded with many important political dates.

The subjoined calendar, compiled by Vann M. Kennedy, Secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee, lists the most important dates and events.

The time for holding the next state democratic convention is uncertain because of conflicting election laws, Kennedy explained.

The calendar:

Jan. 31st: Last day for obtaining tax receipts.

June 6th: Last day upon which state office candidates and district office candidates (in districts containing more than one county) may file applications to have their names listed on the Democratic Primary ballot.

June 13th: State Democratic Executive Committee meets to make up ballot for Primary Election. Committee also designates place where State Democratic convention will meet in September.

June 18th: Last day upon which county and precinct office candidates and district office candidates (in districts of only one county) may file applications to have their names listed on the primary election ballot.

June 20th: County Democratic executive committees meet to determine, by lot, the order of names listed on the ballot; to estimate expenses of the primary election; to assess costs against candidates.

July 23rd: First Primary Election Day. In counties of 150,000 and more population, polls open from 7:00 a. m. to 7:00 p. m. In counties of less population, polls open from 8:00 a. m. to 7:00 p. m. Precinct conventions meet and elect delegates to county conventions.

July 30th: Democratic county executive committees meet to canvass results of First Primary Election. Democratic county conventions meet to select delegates to district and state conventions.

August 6th: State Democratic Executive Committee meets at Austin to canvass results of First Primary Election in all state and district office races. Committee lists names to go on official ballot for Second Primary Election. Certification of Democratic candidates nominated in First Primary made for General Election ballot.

August 27th: Second Primary Election Day.

Sept. 6th (Sept. 13th): Meeting of State Democratic Convention to adopt a platform of principles, to declare nominations for state offices, to elect State Chairman and new State Democratic Executive Committee of 31 men and 31 women.

Note: Because of an error in a bill enacted by the 45th Legislature, the convention date was fixed for one week in advance of the time when the State Democratic Executive Committee can meet to canvass election returns. Unless this date is changed, the convention, presumably, will be unable to announce official nominations for state offices. Properly, the State Convention should meet on Sept. 13th.

Sept. 12th: State Democratic Executive Committee holds session in the city selected for the meeting of the State Democratic Convention, canvasses returns of the Second Primary Election; prescribes the order of business for the Convention, and prepares list of convention delegates.

Nov. 8th: General Election Day.

Miss Opal Cross of Silverton and Miss Zila Cross of Clarendon are home for the holidays visiting with their mother, Mrs. M. E. Cross.

Employment Service To Be Checked For Those Open Benefits

Residents of Randall County who are elegible for benefits under the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act will be given their first opportunity to file claims for these benefits on Wednesday morning between the hours of 8:45 a. m. and 12 noon, on January 5, 1938, at the court house in Canyon when a representative of the Texas State Employment Service makes his first regular visit for the purpose of aiding claimants in the preparation of claims under the above act.

This schedule will be maintained at these same hours on each Wednesday, so that "covered" employees may have an opportunity to submit claims to the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission at Austin, according to word received from C. E. Peake of the Texas State Employment Service, with headquarters at 500½ Taylor Street, Amarillo.

Claimants will be handled by the area office in Amarillo and persons desiring to submit claims while in Amarillo, or who find it more convenient to file their claims in Amarillo, may do so during regular office holrs of any day.

The Employment Service does not investigate claims. It accepts the claimants statement of facts surrounding his separation from his last employment, and forwards such statement to the Austin office of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission. The Commission investigates and checks the claim, and if it is found to be payable, a check will be mailed the claimant direct from that office.

Miss Lilla Beth Burroughs spent Christmas here at the parental E. Burroughs home. Miss Burroughs returned this week to her work with the Soil Conservation Service at Gallup, N. M.
